Personal Profile

I was raised about an hour north of Austin, TX in a small town called Burnet, TX giving me both experiences of growing up in a small town and big city. That environment left me with a very open mind and encouraging attitude. I am extremely organized and have a knack for problem solving. I have an abundance of creativity, whether that be with projects or problems. I work very hard with a positive attitude under any circumstance, and have pride enough to fill a football stadium.
